To whom it may concern

Allerton Provincial Veterinary Laboratory founded in 1897, has since offered a veterinary diagnostic and advisory service to colleagues in the Directorate of Veterinary Services, in private practice as well as to commercial and communal farmers and the livestock industry as a whole.

We have worked closely with Ikhaya for more than 5 years, who must be commended for their ongoing support and willingness to assist. Some of our solutions are not the norm like furnaces which go up to 750°C, but they dynamically adjust their solution offering to accommodate Allerton P.V.L.'s requests.

I am the responsible Quality Manager at Allerton P.V.L., so having a system that complies with SANAS requirements, makes me confident when undergoing an assessment or when customers request evidence of readings. We have 100+ sensors that are installed into our refrigerators, freezers, incubators, cold rooms etc.

The system is easy to use and self-explanatory; it also allows me to access temperature data via my mobile which is very useful on days when I am not at work or after hours and the detailed daily and monthly report allows me to keep a bird's eye view on process quality. When temperatures are out of specification, I am immediately notified via sms and I can attend to the equipment immediately.

I am very happy Allerton P.V.L. chose Ikhaya and we look forward to working with them in the far foreseeable future.

Kind Regards.
